II 次の英文を読み、あとの設問に答えなさい。

One Friday, (A) I was walking home from high school, I saw the new kid, Kyle. It looked like he was carrying all of his books. I *thought to myself, “Why would anyone take home all their books on a Friday? He must be a real *nerd.” [あ] I went back to thinking about my own weekend plans: football with my friends, then later a party.

As I walked on, I saw *a bunch of kids running toward Kyle. They *ran into him, knocking the books out of his arms and *tripping him so he *landed *in the dirt. His glasses went flying, and I saw them land in the grass about 10 feet away. He looked up so sadly, almost crying.

So I went over and helped him pick up his books, and handed him his glasses. “Those guys are so stupid,” I told him. Kyle started to smile and said, “Hey thanks!” [い] *As it turned out, Kyle had only moved to the area a few weeks earlier, but those guys had done the same thing to him nearly every day. “But they won’t be doing it again!” he said angrily. “Forget them Kyle,” I said, and invited (B) football on Saturday with me and my friends. He said yes.

It was a great weekend with Kyle and my friends, and (2) the more [①got / ②know / ③him, / ④we / ⑤the / ⑥to / ⑦more] we all liked him. Monday morning came, and there was Kyle with all his books again. “Sorry, you didn’t get much time to look at all those books,” I joked. He just (3) laughed and handed me half of them to carry.

Kyle and I became best friends, and over the next four years although he never took all his books home on weekends, he did find plenty of time to study. (C) we were *seniors, he was planning to be a doctor, while I was going to study for business on a football scholarship. [う] A lot of things had changed during our time at high school, but especially for Kyle. Each year, one student (D) by the teachers to make a speech at (4) the high school leaving ceremony. This year they had chosen Kyle.

As he started his speech, he *cleared his throat, and began, “This is a time of year for thanking all those who helped us *make it through high school — our parents, our teachers, our sisters and brothers, but mostly our friends. I am here to tell all of you that being a friend to someone is the best gift you can give them. I am going to tell you a story.”

I could not believe my ears as Kyle began to tell everyone the story of the day we first met. [え] He had been planning to *kill himself that weekend! He talked of how he had taken all the books from his locker so his mom wouldn’t have to (5) do it later. Then, once more, those guys had attacked him. “But, I was saved. My friend saved me.”

I heard the *gasp go through the crowd as this *ordinary, yet now popular, boy told us all about this weakest moment. “If you remember one thing that I say,” Kyle continued, “remember that we all have the power to change people’s lives. On that unhappy day, my friend could have kept walking but he chose to help me. And that changed everything. We all have the power to make other people happy or sad, not just for a minute but for a lifetime.
